TOP SECRET
Approved For Release 2003/06/20 : CIA-RDP78T04759A007300010009-8

BRIEF

PHOTOGRAPHIC INTERPRETATION REPORT

BORSHCHEV PROBABLE LONG RANGE SAM LAUNCH COMPLEX USSR

25X

AUGUST 1967

COPY 116

2 PAGES

25X

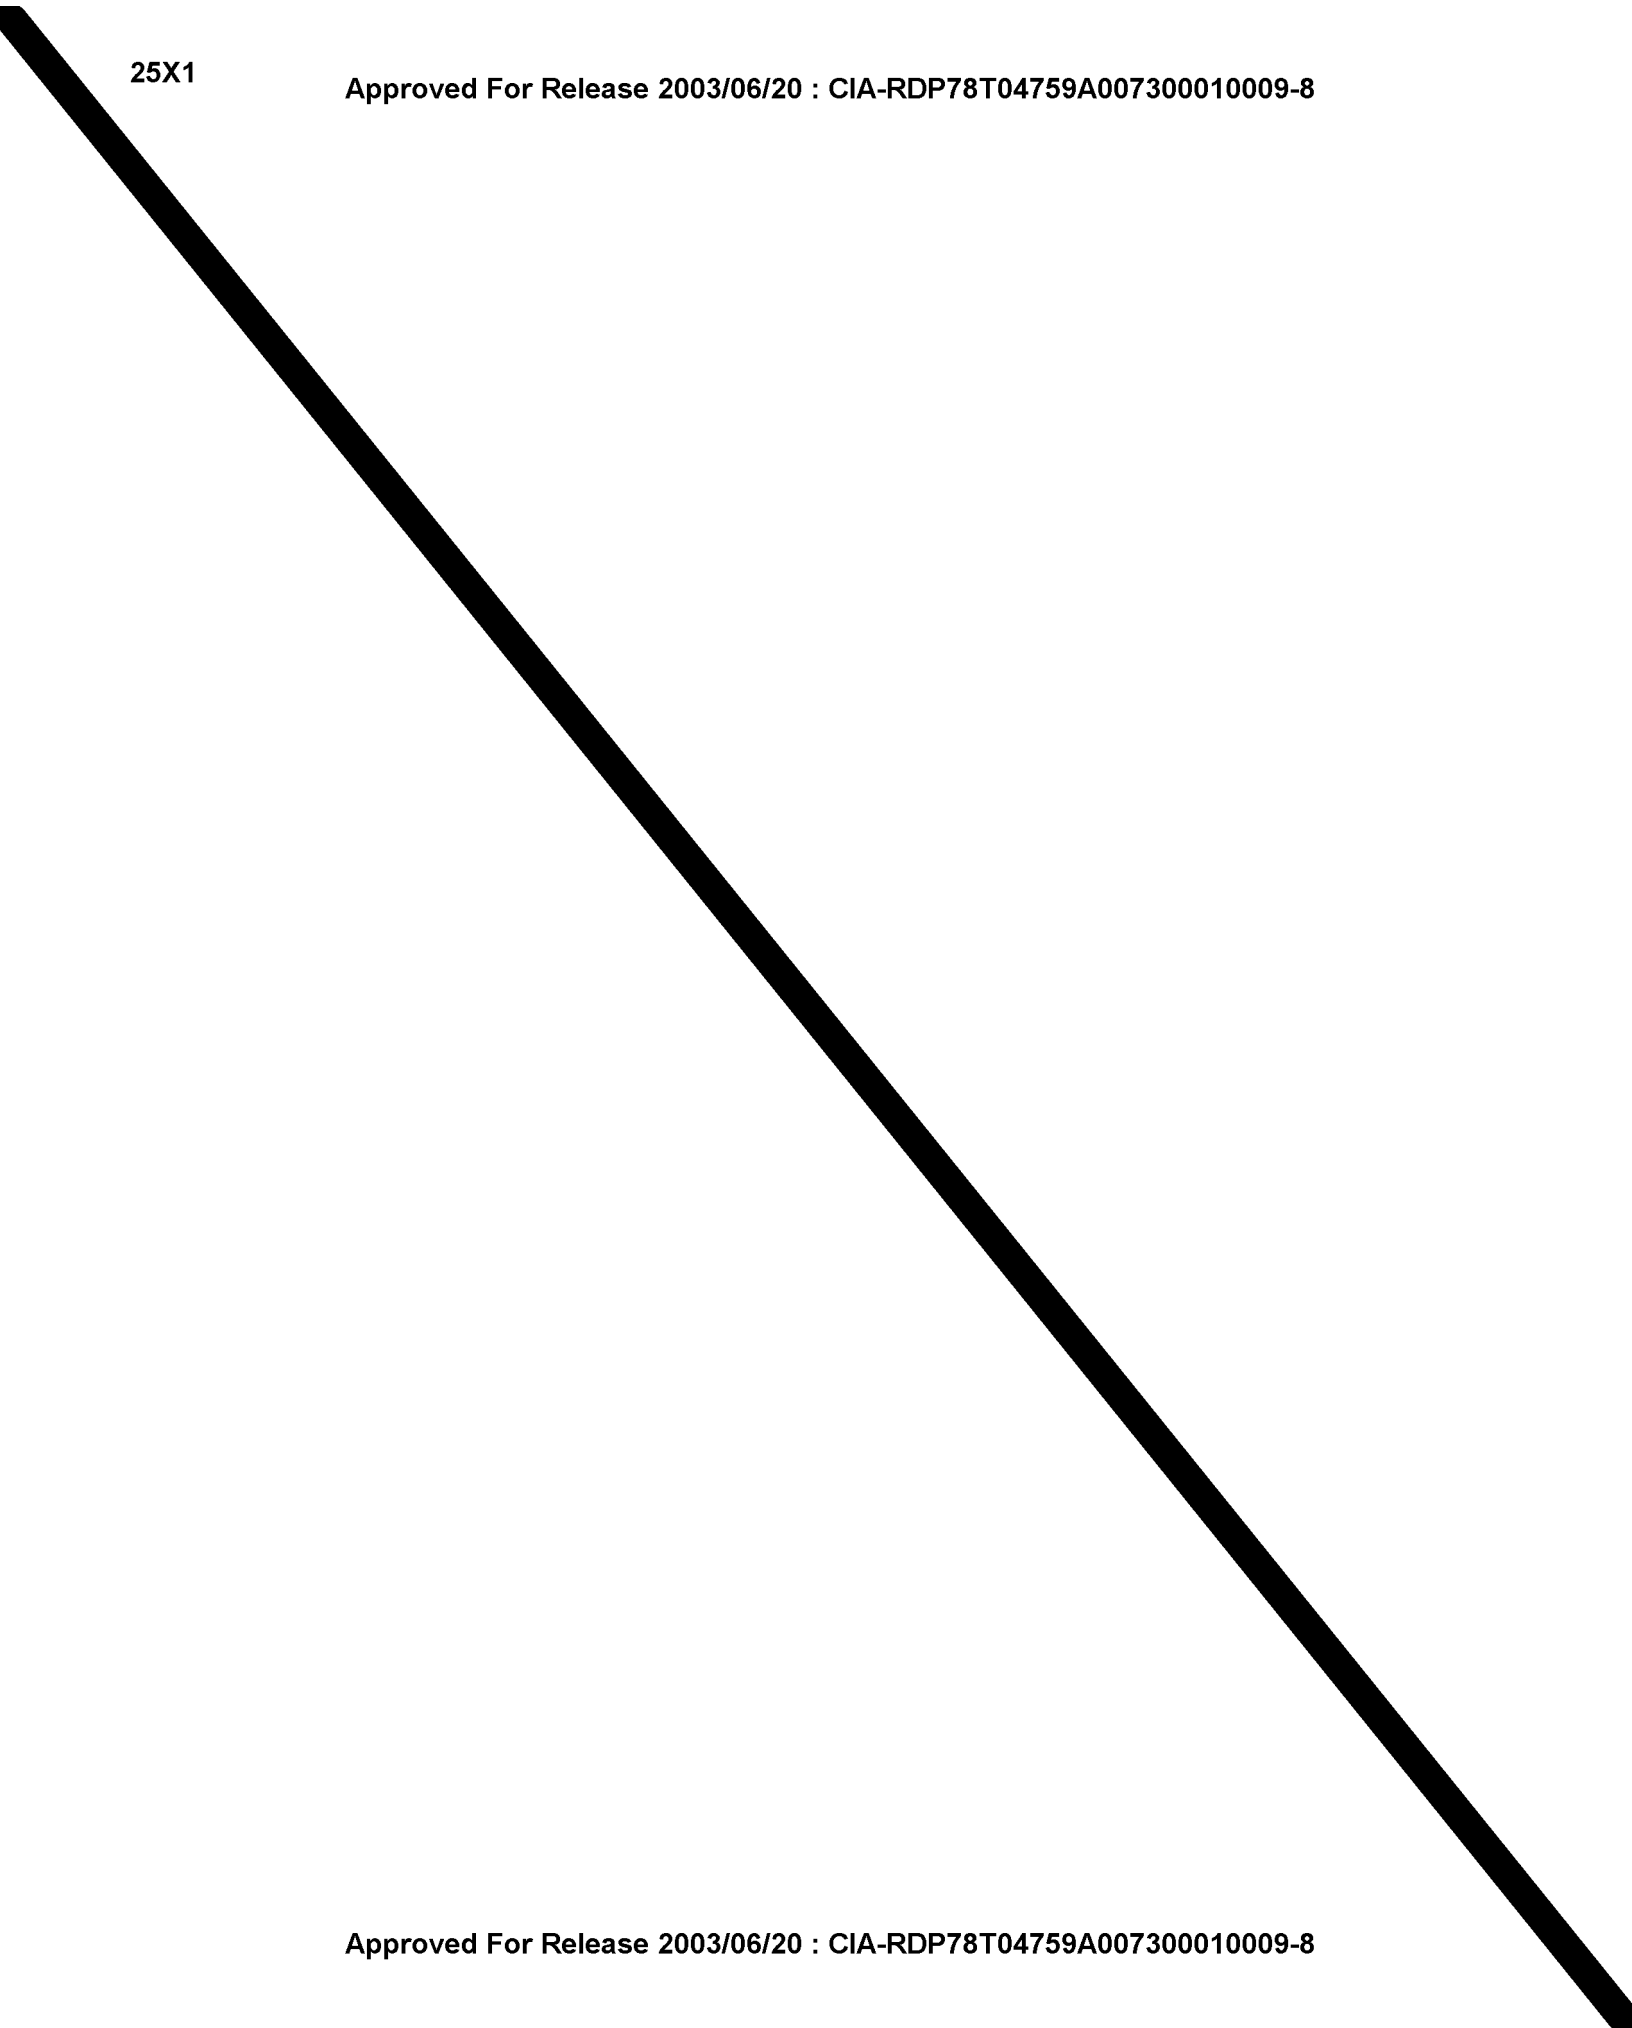
GROUP 1 EXCLUDED FROM AUTOMATIC DOWNGRADING AND DECLASSIFICATION

Declass Review by NIMA/DOD

TOP SECRET
Approved For Release 2003/06/20 : CIA-RDP78T04759A007300010009-8

25X1

Approved For Release 2003/06/20 : CIA-RDP78T04759A007300010009-8



Approved For Release 2003/06/20 : CIA-RDP78T04759A007300010009-8

Approved For Release 2009/06/26 : CIA-RDP78T04759A007300010009-8

TOP SECRET

August 1967

NATIONAL PHOTOGRAPHIC INTERPRETATION CENTER

NAME

Borshchev Probable Long Range SAM Launch Complex

COUNTRY	GEO COORDINATES	WAC
USSR	48-46N 026-02E	0233

REFERENCES

The Borshchev Probable Long Range SAM (PLRS) Launch Complex, located 2.5 nautical miles (nm) south of Borshchev, USSR and 30 nm north of Chernovtsy, USSR, was first observed and identified on [redacted] photography [redacted] The complex was not present on [redacted]

The complex consists of 3 launch sites and a tracking guidance facility under construction.

The configuration of the complex resembles the common layout of the most recently identified 3 launch-site complexes.

Launch Sites A and C appear to be in a more advanced stage of construction than Launch Site B.

Orientation of the complex is [redacted] Elevation is approximately [redacted] feet above mean sea level.

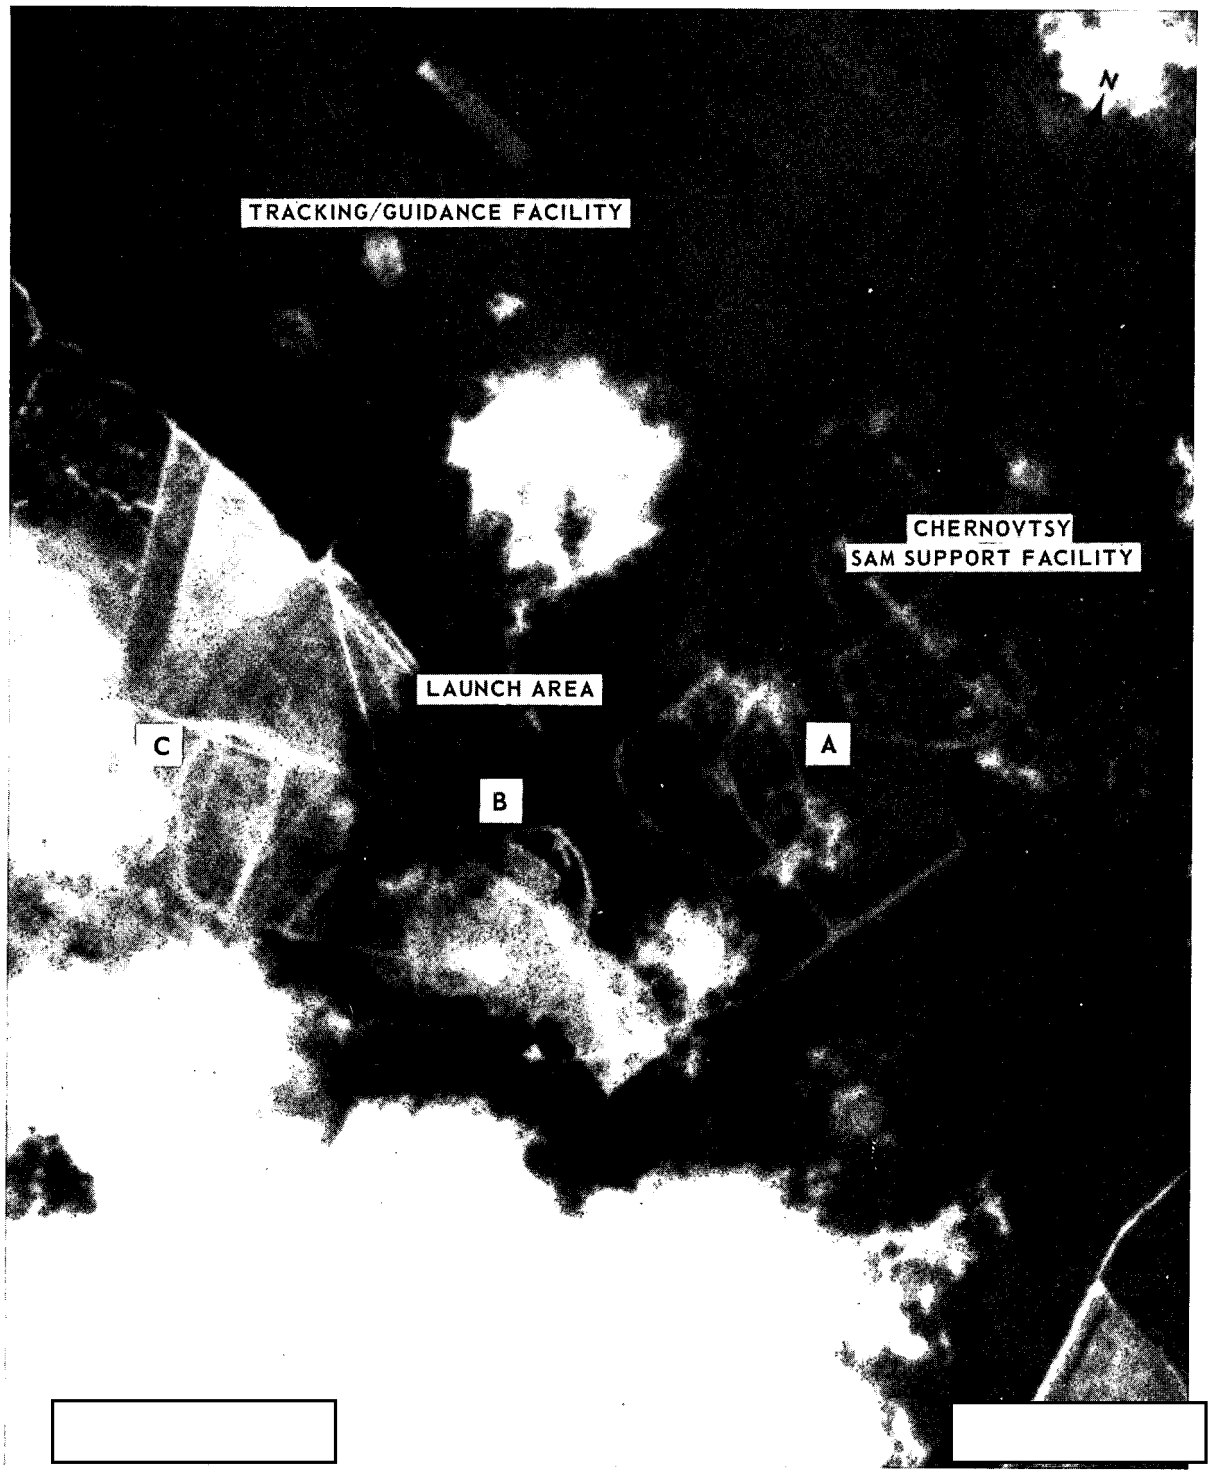
The complex is adjacent to the Chernovtsy SAM Support Facility [redacted]

Scattered clouds and cloud shadows limit interpretation.

TOP SECRET

Approved For Release 2009/06/26 : CIA-RDP78T04759A007300010009-8

X1 Approved For Release 2003/06/20 : CIA-RDP78T04759A007300010009-8 25X



25X1D

25X

Approved For Release 2003/06/20 : CIA-RDP78T04759A007300010009-8